The Providence Tarzana Medical Center Podiatric Residency Program was formerly known as the Encino-Tarzana Regional Medical Center Podiatric Residency Program. Providence Health System recently purchased the Tarzana Hospital and incorporated the podiatric residency program to the Tarzana campus exclusively. In regards to the podiatric residency program, the training with the doctors, academics, benefits, and rotations have not been changed or affected.

This program is based at Providence Tarzana Medical Center with Podiatric Surgical and Medicine rotations at Kaiser Baldwin Park, Kaiser Harbor City, Kaiser West Los Angeles, and Kaiser Woodland Hills. The residents receive a diverse experience in both private practice and managed care settings with multiple specialists and attendings. There are three entry-level positions available. All residents are expected to be hard-working, academic, and assertive.
